

The Author

Barbara Kindermann, born in Zurich, studied German language and literature, Philosophy and Languages in Geneva, Dublin, Florence and Göttingen. Following her doctorate, she worked several years as an editor. She founded the Kindermann Verlag in Berlin in 1994.

The Illustrator

Sonja Wimmer, born in Munich, studied Design and worked as a graphic designer in Munich and Brussels before she moved to Barcelona to study Illustration. Today she works as a freelance illustrator for publishers all over the world. Her books have received many awards.

www.sonjawimmer.com

BARBARA KINDERMANN & SONJA WIMMER

Shakespeare's The Tempest

In the deep of the night, a huge storm suddenly rises at sea and threatens to capsize a ship with Italian noblemen. They expect to drown, but the ship remains intact and miraculously reaches a mysterious island. This is where the mighty wizard Prospero reigns over the spirits, the winds and the water. It is soon clear that the storm was not a coincidence, but had been planned by Prospero. But why did he ignite the storm? What is his motive?

Barbara Kindermann compellingly renarrates one of the best known works of Shakespeare for children and thus creates a magical fairy-tale full of spook and sorcery.

Sonja Wimmer's atmospheric illustrations immediately captivate young and old readers alike and brings the spirits to life.

PRAISE FOR THE SERIES

"Splendid! Is what Shakespeare would say." - LUCHS jury

"Barbara Kindermann retells Shakespeare without borrowing the difficult language of the time of its origin. Instead she retraces the entire plot in child-oriented language, but without forfeiting quality." - literaturmarkt.info

Other Works of Shakespeare in the World Literature for Children Series

A Midsummer Night's Dream • Much Ado About Nothing • Romeo and Juliet • Hamlet • The Taming of the Shrew • The Merchant of Venice • Macbeth

Original titles: Der Sturm nach William Shakespeare

Series: World Literature for Children

Publisher: Kindermann Verlag

Format: hc | 220 x 300 mm
half-cloth binding

Extent: 36 pp

Publication: Oct 2019

Age: 7+ | RRP: € 17

All rights available

- Beautifully retold in a language that children understand
- Stunning illustrations