

Gallina Dreams of Flying

Mele Brink

Brigitte Endres

Gallina is only colourful chicken among all the white laying hens. But instead of being a good hen and laying her eggs, Gallina asks uncomfortable questions like: What is the world beyond the walls of the stable like? Although the others are convinced that there is nothing outside of the chicken farm, Gallina will not believe it. Everyone is horrified when she begins to practice flying. But then comes the day when Gallina disappears from the tiny world of the laying hens.

A story for independent thinkers from the age of five, who do not simply believe anything they are told, but prefer to get to the bottom of things themselves.

Reviews

"... important topics are effortlessly wrapped up in a beautiful story with cheerful images: The search of one's own identity, courage and self-confidence, here and elsewhere." – Stiftung Lesen

"The author is known for her child-friendly stories that encourage you to think for yourself, not to put up with everything and to form your own opinion. She remains true to this [...] and so here we have a wonderful picture book, which sends you on your way with a lot for life—in a humorous way and without any moralizing remarks." – Kinderbuchkiste, Anke Klepsch

By the same illustrator

ARE YOU SPINNING YET?

Author: Tine Ziegler | Winner of the Kimi Seal for diversity

Age 4+

Picture Book

Gallina träumt vom Fliegen

34 pp | €14

hc | 210 x 270 mm

August 2020

Illustrator: Mele Brink

Author: Brigitte Endres

Rights sold: Korean

All other rights available except for Simplified Chinese

Contact:

anja@mundtagency.com