

Time Goes By

Juliette Lèveillé

Stéphane Demasse-Pottier

I am waiting for news.

I hope it will be for today.

But the day getting longer and longer.

Nothing on the horizon.

Captivating illustrations and a day that drags on, giving way to dreams and wanderings ... The wait seems almost unbearable for this young boy, but what exactly is he waiting for?

A sensitive story about the birth of the feeling of love in a child.
