

Publisher: Südpol Verlag
Format: hc | 148 x 210 mm
Extent: 92 pp. · 44 b&w illustr.
Publication: August 2016
Age: 7+

All rights available

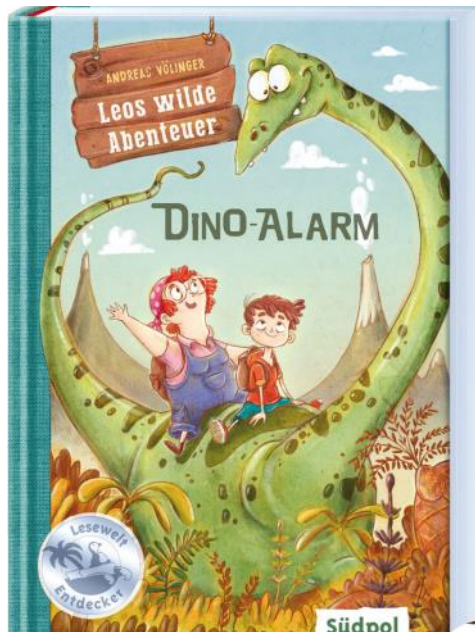

For further information contact:
anja@mundtagency.com

The Author:

Andreas Völlinger grew up in the Ruhr area. During his communication studies and study of English language and literature in Essen and Wellington, New Zealand, he already wrote articles for various magazines, filmed short movies and wrote numerous comics. He lives in Berlin where he works as author and editor.

The Illustrator:

Pascal Nöldner was born in Essen in 1990 and works as a freelance illustrator of comics, children's and YA books and animation films. He studied Design and Illustration at the University of Applied Sciences in Münster and graduated in 2015. In addition to his creative work he is a freelance actor and musician.

ANDREAS VÖLLINGER

Leo's Wild Adventures— Dinosaur Alarm

Leo and his inventor aunt travel to the dinosaurs—unfortunately one of the huge creatures travels back with them and is suddenly standing in Aunt Agnetha's garden!

Leo is to give a presentation on his favourite animal in class. But how is he supposed to observe an Apatosaurus that has been extinct for a long time? Luckily his Aunt Agnetha is an inventor who hasn't only designed household robots, but also a time machine that takes them to the Jurassic to look at a living Apatosaurus! Disastrously, upon their return a huge dinosaur stands in the middle of Aunt Agnetha's garden and gets its teeth into the neighbours' rose bushes—until Leo shrinks it to dog size with Aunt Agnetha's shrivel projector.

REVIEWS

“A great, wild and funny adventure.” - Radio Bremen

“This story is so entertaining that you start again from the beginning right away to learn once more about the great inventions and exciting adventures of Leo and his aunt Agatha.” - www.kidsbestbooks.de

Sales points

- Funny story with an ever-green topic: Dinosaurs
- Delightful illustrations
- Large writing, short chapters, b&w illustrations on each page