

The Author:

Nicolas Gorny's first career aspiration as a child was to be a superhero. As he didn't receive the desired powers – neither from an intergalactic magic ring, nor from the bite of a radioactive spider – he had to follow a different calling. Today, he writes and illustrates children's books and is known as “the worst dancer in the world”. He lives with his wife and his dog in Hamburg and has the dream to reside on a secret space station in the distant future.

The Illustrator:

Pascal Nöldner was born in Essen in 1990. He works as a freelance illustrator of comic books and books for children and adolescents. He is also an inker and painter of animated films. After studying Design and majoring in Illustration at Münster University of Applied Sciences, he graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 2015.

Super Pug and the Piercing Villain Alarm

Villains beware: Super Pug is back!

A new neighbour moves into the house next to the home of Helge and his pug. And they both know immediately: Madame Magenta and her cat, Marilyn, are super villains!

When Helge's unsuspecting Dad walks right into Madame Magenta's nasty cell phone-hypnosis-trap, Super Pug and Helge act like true heroes and face off against the lady villain. But then it happens: Kitten Marilyn turns out to be the Catinator 3000 - so the battle of the super heroes begins...
