

The Author

Markus Orths, born in Viersen in 1969, works and lives as an author in Karlsruhe. He has been publishing novels and stories for adults since 2001. His children demand ad-hoc stories and this is how zebra turned up under the bed one evening.

The Illustrator

Kerstin Meyer, born in Wedel in 1966, already drew for animated cartoon productions during her studies of illustration in Hamburg. She has illustrated many books for various publishers since then. She also likes traveling and spending time in her garden.

- Topics: friendship, school, diversity, discrimination
- Funny and profound at the same time

MARKUS ORTHS & KERSTIN MEYER

The Zebra Under the Bed

One morning there is a zebra under Hanna’s bed. A living zebra! Just like that. Hanna has only recently moved into the area with her two dads, so she is happy when Browninger—that’s the zebra’s name—comes along to school with her. A zebra in the classroom? Impossible! But as Browninger is darned good at writing, calculating and gymnastics, he is allowed to stay. At least to start with. The children will never forget this school day: imagine learning how to write on Browninger’s stripes! Leap-frogging over his back! A dream of a gymnastics lesson!

But all of a sudden the door opens and two zoo keepers come in and lead Browninger away. What is Hanna to do now?

REVIEWS

“A funny book against prejudices, a book that captures your interest in the unknown.” - Der Tages-Spiegel

“Great characters, super dialogues and marvellous illustrations: seldom has a book handled the topic of being different in such a graceful manner.” - White Ravens

“A sweet, funny story with great depth.” - ORF

“A book to fall in love with.” - Evangelisches Literaturportal

Also available:

The Richest Boy in the World

Rights sold: Spanish

Original title: Das Zebra unterm Bett

Publisher: Moritz Verlag

Format: hc | 150 x 218 mm

Extent: 72 pp | Publication: July 2015

Age: 6+ | RRP: € 9.95

Rights sold: Czech, Spanish

- White Ravens 2016
- Leipzig Reading Compass 2015
- 7 Best Books for Young Readers, January 2016

EARLY RADERS

Contact: anja@mundtagency.com